Darius the Great was very much offended at the Greeks because they had the fill grace to defeat his forces at Marathon. He planned an invasion of the country with an army so large that, according to Herodotus, it was three years before it was mobilized, and in the meantime Darius died. His son Xerxes announced his intention of carrying out the war, but some interesting preliminary negotiations took place. One nation, wanting to remain neutral, sent its special messenger with three ships "and plenty of money and a large stock of good words," with instructions not to commit his nation until he saw how the war would result, a method apparently well known in those days and handed down to the present time.

Carranza General Advancing to Attack San Luis Potosi and Morelia.

NORTHERN CHIEF PREPARES FOR A DECISIVE BATTLE

American Is Jailed in Chihuahua, Accused of Possessing Counterfeit Money.

Carranza forces under Gen. Obregon have begun a double offensive movement which has for its object the capture of San Luis Potosi and also of Morelia, capital of the state of Michoacan, according to advices today to the Carranza agency here from Vera Cruz. The dispatch says Gen. Obregon, who is now at Apasco, Guanajuato, not far

A second column, under Gen. Gonzales. Elizando and Novoa is moving toward Morelia and Gen. Obregon himself, with the remainder of his forces, is operating to protect the national collection of Gen. Castro toward San Luis.

The report of the Carranza agency as to Gen. Obregon's movements lacked infectal confirmation, but officials showed interest in what they considered an attempt to cut off the Villa force on the border from Mexico City and also from the region from which supplies for the border troops are said to be drawn.

It was pointed out that Gen. Obregon's operations might have caused Gen. Villa and Gen. Angeles to leave the border campaign and go to Torreon, where they could personally supervise the disposition of forces to meet Obregon's maneuvers and force a decisive battle.

Ismael Palafox, in charge of the for-eign office of the Villa-Zapata govern-ment in Mexico City, has telegraphed to Enrique C. Llorente, Washington representative, that there was no in-tention of evacuating Mexico City, as reported in diplomatic dispatches sev-eral days ago.

The text of the message follows:

"You can deny the rumbred evacuation of Mexico City, as there is absolutely no ground for it. The capital is sufficiently well garrisoned. We have 6,000 troops in the city, besides 10,000 in the suburban towns of the federal district. There is absolutely no danger of an attack by the enemy, as Obregon is heading toward Tampico to reinforce Gen. Gonzales there.

"The general situation is good. Commerce, industry and banks are opened and all administration working harmoniously. On this holiday great throngs of people visited Mexico City with much enthusiasm prevailing. The spread of the rumor of the evacuation caused a little alarm, but as soon as denied by the government calm was restored."
